Grade 9
Relationships and Dating

Learner Outcomes

W-9.12 Determine “safer” sex practices; e.g., communicate with partner

R-9.4 Analyze, evaluate and refine personal communication patterns

R-9.5 Describe and analyze factors that contribute to the development of unhealthy relationships, and develop strategies to deal with unhealthy relationships

This lesson addresses all of the specific outcomes listed above. Instruction in human sexuality (bolded and italicized outcomes) requires schools to provide notice to parents about the learning outcomes, topics and resources.

How To Use

This lesson plan contains several activities to achieve the learner outcomes above. You may choose to do some or all of the activities, based on the needs of your students and the time available. Some of the activities build on the ones that come before them, but all can be used alone.

For a quick lesson, combine activities A, D and F.

If you choose not to do all the activities, use your professional judgement to assess which outcomes you have covered and which may need additional activities.

Classroom Activities & Timing

A. Ground Rules (5-10 minutes)
B. Factors Affecting Relationships (15-25 minutes)
C. Healthy, Unhealthy and Abusive Relationships (10-20 minutes)
D. Healthy or Unhealthy Song Lyrics (30-45 minutes)
E. Building Assertive Communication Skills (20-40 minutes)
F. Question Box (5-10 minutes)

Background Information for Teachers

This lesson explores healthy, unhealthy and abusive behaviours in relationships and where to go for help.

Being Prepared for Disclosures and Distress

Addressing the topic of abusive relationships may cause some students to be distressed or show other signs they are or have somehow been involved in or witnessed an abusive situation. Dealing with controversial issues encourages students to examine their own beliefs and experiences. Teachers need to act with sensitivity and discretion when handling individual student information that is sensitive or could cause embarrassment or distress to the student or family.

To maintain both student safety and engagement, it is helpful to be familiar with trauma informed practice, use inclusive language and to acknowledge feelings and stories. It is also important to strongly emphasize a respect for confidentiality among all class members.

- Respect and reinforce confidentiality and sensitivity in the classroom and anticipate where discussions will lead in order to protect students from revealing inappropriate personal information.
- Before starting these lessons, talk to the school counsellors so they are aware there may be disclosures of abuse.
- Ensure your students understand that disclosures of abuse cannot be kept confidential. Disclosures are the first step to getting help for a student who is experiencing abuse.
- Share with students what they can expect if they disclose abuse, e.g., acknowledgement, honouring their disclosure, redirection to discuss further outside of class and assurance of connecting them with support.
- The Child, Youth and Family Enhancement Act requires you to report the abuse of a young person to Child and Family Services or Delegated First Nation Agencies. You can locate your local office by visiting http://www.child.alberta.ca/home/local_offices.cfm

Refer to your school division’s guidelines about disclosures and reporting.

Relationships

Healthy, fulfilling relationships are needed for all people’s emotional and physical well-being. Understanding the differences between healthy, unhealthy and abusive relationships helps students to identify healthy and unhealthy characteristics of a student’s past, present and future relationships. All people need to learn to express their emotions in a healthy way, and this learning starts in infancy. Sharing feelings can be a way of building relationships between people, strengthening emotional bonds and dealing with conflicts. When sharing emotions, starting the conversation with “I feel…” and then naming the emotion, is more effective than saying “You make me feel…” or “I feel that you…”.

Below are the traits of healthy, unhealthy and abusive relationships. Most of these traits can relate to any kind of relationship, but a few deal specifically with romantic or intimate relationships.

Grade 9 Relationships and Dating

Inclusive Language

Language is complex, evolving and powerful. In these lessons, gender-neutral language is used to be inclusive of all students, including those with diverse gender identities and sexual orientations. This includes the use of ‘they’ as a singular gender-neutral pronoun. The lesson plans use the terms ‘male’ and ‘female’ when referring to biological sex (sex assigned at birth), such as when discussing reproductive anatomy. A person’s reproductive system can be male, female or intersex (not clearly defined as either male or female).

People are assigned a sex at birth based on their reproductive anatomy. Sex assigned at birth is independent of gender identity. Gender identity is a person’s internal sense of identity as female, male, both or neither, regardless of their biological sex assigned at birth.

For many people, their gender matches the sex they were assigned at birth (cisgender). Others may identify as being transgender or gender diverse if their gender identity does not match the sex they were assigned at birth. A person’s gender identity can be girl, woman, boy, man, transgender, gender fluid, gender queer, agender or others. The intention in this material is to use language that reflects these many possibilities.

A. Ground Rules

Ensure ground rules are established before beginning this lesson. For classes that have already established ground rules, quickly reviewing them can help ensure a successful lesson.
B. Factors Affecting Relationships

Students will consider the common types of challenges that may occur in relationships.

1. Introduce the activity by pointing out that people experience problems in all kinds of relationships. In dating relationships, there are predictable factors that lead to conflict, and if they remain unresolved can lead to break-ups.

2. Ask students to give an example of a conflict in a dating relationship. In order to respect the privacy of their family and friends, ask them to respond with examples from relationships they have seen in TV/movies/books, not personal experience.

3. On separate pieces of flipchart paper, write these four headings:

   - Practical/Logistical Challenges
   - Compatibility Challenges
   - Commitment Challenges
   - Affection/Intimacy Challenges

4. Post the flipchart papers around the room.

5. Divide students into four groups. Assign each group to one flipchart paper.

6. Give the students a few minutes to brainstorm and write down their ideas of problems that could occur in dating relationships in the category on the paper.

7. Ask each group to rotate around the room to the next flipchart, and add at least one idea to the next flipchart.

8. Repeat until each group has visited all four papers.
Some sample answers:

<td>Different religion or ethnic background</td>
<td></td>
<td>Emotional or physical abuse</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>One partner is not allowed to date</td>
<td>Different life goals</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

9. Debrief by asking the class to discuss these questions:

- Which headings were the easiest and hardest to identify examples for?
- Do any of the challenges seem easy to solve? Which seem the hardest to solve?
- Is there a category that seems to have more problematic examples?
- What role do a person’s values play in relationship problems?

C. Healthy, Unhealthy and Abusive Relationships

It is important for all people to know the difference between healthy, unhealthy and abusive relationships.

1. Put up three headings on the board to make three columns:
   - Healthy Relationships
   - Unhealthy Relationships
   - Abusive Relationships

2. Explain that many people have trouble deciding whether or not a relationship is good for them. It can be difficult to tell the difference between a healthy and an unhealthy relationship, and between an unhealthy and an abusive relationship. In this activity students will identify the qualities of healthy, unhealthy, and abusive relationships.
3. Divide the class into small groups.

4. Give each group one or more Healthy/Unhealthy/Abusive Relationship card(s) until all cards are distributed. Have the group discuss each card and decide if it describes a healthy, an unhealthy, or an abusive relationship.

5. When the group has made a decision, have them place the card under the appropriate heading at the front of the class.

6. When all groups have placed their cards, discuss the cards together and move any cards as needed to the correct column.

7. Debrief this activity using the following questions:
   - How do you think people feel when they are in a healthy relationship? In an unhealthy relationship? In an abusive relationship?
   - Is it possible that what one person believes is appropriate behaviour might actually be inappropriate or abusive?
   - Who decides what is respectful and what is abusive?
Grade 9 Relationships and Dating

8. Conclude by providing students with the information below on how to access help for any type of unhealthy or abusive relationship. Encourage them to consider how they may need the information in the future or for a friend, even if they themselves are never in an abusive relationship.

Where To Go For Help

For Students:
If you are in immediate danger call 911
If you are affected by any form of abuse or if you suspect someone you know may be, you can talk to a trusted adult like a parent, teacher or guidance counsellor.

The following resources are also available:

- Association of Alberta Sexual Assault Services If you have been affected by sexual violence, contact the nearest sexual assault centre for help and information.
  - Visit the website: https://aasas.ca/get-help/

- Bullying Helpline If you are a victim of bullying or abuse. Online chats and calls to the helpline are anonymous.
  - Call the toll free 24/7 Helpline: 1-888-456-2323. The helpline offers help in more than 170 languages.
  - Chat online (noon to 8 pm, 7 days/week) in English only

- Kids Help Phone Counsellors are available to talk confidentially 24/7.
  - Visit the website: https://kidshelpphone.ca/
  - Call: 1-800-668-6868

- Connect family & sexual abuse network support line available 24/7.
  - Visit the website: http://www.connectnetwork.ca/
  - Call: 1-877-237-5888

- Health Link Health advice from a registered nurse available 24/7.
  - Call: 811

For Teachers:
Please see the Background Information above for information regarding disclosures and reporting abuse.
D. Healthy or Unhealthy Songs Lyrics

Students will analyze the messages in pop culture regarding healthy and unhealthy relationships.

1. Introduce the activity by pointing out that we spend a lot of time listening to music but often don’t pay close attention to the words or think deeply about their meaning. Many popular songs are about relationships. Ask students to give some current examples to check that they understand the connection to this lesson.

2. Divide students into pairs or small groups.

3. Distribute the Song Lyrics handout to each group.

4. Give each group time to choose a song to analyze. They will need to find the lyrics to their song and hand them in with their completed handout.

5. Ask each group to complete the questions on the handout.

6. For evaluation, you could collect the handouts or ask each group to present their song and share their answers to the questions with the class.

E. Building Assertive Communication Skills

Students identify passive, aggressive, passive-aggressive and assertive communication, and practice assertive communication skills.

1. Display the Types of Communications slide or provide the Types of Communication handout to each student.

2. Discuss the four types of communication styles with students, and ask them to provide examples of passive, passive-aggressive, assertive and aggressive communication behaviours.

3. Point out that people do not communicate using just one of these styles. They can combine or change styles depending on the situation and/or person that they are interacting with. For example, a person can be assertive with their best friend whom they are very comfortable with, but they may be aggressive with someone that they do not like or respect.

4. Divide the class into groups of 2-3 students.

5. Give each group a Communication Scenario (1-5) handout.
6. Instruct groups to read the scenario and provide a written answer to the questions provided. Students may find this sentence starter helpful when writing their assertive responses: “I feel __________ when __________ and I want ______________.”

7. Have each group pair up with another group.

8. Ask each combined group to share their scenarios and answers with each other.

9. Give groups time to practice assertive behaviour. They can use the assertive communication responses that have been written to role play conversations with each other.

10. Debrief using the following questions:
   - What type of communication is most effective in solving difficulties within relationships?
   - Why don’t the other forms of communication work as well?
   - What are the best examples of assertive communication from each combined group? (Have students read the scenario and the response.)

Encourage students to reflect upon the type of communication that best represents their own behaviour and think about ways to use assertive communication within their relationships.

F. Question Box

Answer any questions from the question box in the previous lesson. Have students submit any new questions and address them next class. Addressing the questions at the next class allows you time to review the questions and prepare responses.

Self-Reflection

During the lesson, were:
   - ground rules being followed?
   - good practices established regarding group work and discussion?

What will you change for future classes with this group?
What will you change for future use of this lesson?
Student Assessment

During the lesson, did students:

Knowledge:
• identify passive, aggressive and assertive communication?

Skills:
• practice assertive communication skills to deal with difficulties in relationships?

Attitudes:
• accept the benefits of using assertive communication?
Talking about your feelings

Respecting the other person’s friends and activities

Considering the other person’s opinions and feelings
Respecting differences in other people

Stating differences of opinion

Having an equal say in the relationship
Figuring out a solution that is good for both of you

Believing one partner has more rights than the other

Shouting or yelling when you are angry with the other person
Using the silent treatment

Song Lyrics: Healthy or Unhealthy?

1. As a group, choose a song about a relationship between two people. Print the lyrics and attach them to this page.

   Song Title:           Artist:

2. What is the song about?

3. Describe the nature of the communication between the two people. Is there respect and an atmosphere of give-and-take, or is their communication one-sided?
4. Is the relationship healthy or unhealthy? Give an example that supports your opinion.

5. What lyrics, if any, might suggest an unhealthy or abusive relationship?

6. Do the lyrics suggest violent solutions to problems?

7. If so, is this sort of violence okay within the context of the song? Why or why not?

8. What would be a healthier way to relate?
Types of Communication

Assertive:
- stand up for their rights without denying other people theirs
- respect themselves as well as others
- ask for what they want in a straightforward manner
- express their emotions (both positive and negative) in a healthy way

Passive:
- give in and say yes even when they don’t want to
- put the feelings and concerns of others before their own
- keep their concerns to themselves

Aggressive:
- think of themselves first, at the expense of others
- dominate others
- use threats or force

Passive-aggressive:
- may seem to agree to avoid confrontation (passive) but will manipulate others to say things for them, or say things behind someone’s back (aggressive)
Communication Scenario 1

Tendai feels like spending the evening with friends. Corey prefers to spend a quiet evening watching movies alone with Tendai. Corey is very disappointed at the thought of spending this Saturday evening without Tendai.

How could Corey express the disappointment to Tendai using:

Passive communication?
